POLITICAL REVIEW.

One of the most important political matters pending when our last mail edition was printed was that of national loans. A new loan of two million dollars and a conversion scheme to consolidate the existing bonded indebtedness of more than three million dollars were mentioned as being projected by the Minister of Finance. Minister Damon invited the freest public discussion of these measures, and some leading capitalists by invitation held a conference with himself before the Senate Committee on Finance. The opinions of these financial authorities were strongly in opposition to both measures in their present form. Objection was made especially to the large margins given for commissions and discounts, as inviting capitalists in the great money markets to seek the greatest possible advantages offered in the schemes. It was advised that the new loan might be subscribed largely at home, if not all at once fast enough to carry out the public improvements for which it is proposed to be raised. In view of the nature of the opposition to the schemes thus encountered, it is probable that the Minister of Finance will contrive some modification of his loan schemes for submission to the Legislature.

The cognate questions of Asiatic immigration and protection to white labor were made dramatically prominent on the 25th ult. A procession of between six and seven hundred members of the United Portuguese Society marched through the city and into the Capitol grounds, where it halted while the society's executive committee in a body entered the building to present a petition to the President and Legislature. In the hallway, with the House of Representatives in session on one side, the Minister of Foreign Affairs received the petition from the committee. As the procession approached the building the Senate, that sits upstairs, hastily adjourned its session. The petitioners asked that Asiatic immigration be stopped, and means be devised for the protection of white labor; also that a more equitable tax law be passed. On behalf of the Portuguese pains have been taken to explain that the petition and procession were not a demonstration of the unemployed. This explanation was necessary from the fact that a large proportion of the procession was composed of prosperous merchants and mechanics together with laborers in public and private employment who left their work for the day to join the parade. The demonstration was one representing general discontent in the Portuguese colony with the policy of the Government since the overthrow of the monarchy. In the revolution wherein that event was accomplished the Portuguese were right in the front, immediately organizing a strong military company to aid in upholding the Provisional Government. They have been disappointed by seeing the old policy continued of introducing Japanese and Chinese laborers, by the hundred and the thousand at frequent intervals, to take contract service on the plantations, to keep wages down below what the Portuguese will accept, while the small shop-keeping and the mechanical trades, as well as chances for common labor, in both city and country are becoming crowded with coolies of those nationalities whose plantation labor contracts have expired. There is reason to believe that the Portuguese are desperately in earnest in the matter, having concluded that if the conditions are not remedied by some means they will have to emigrate with their wives and little ones to stranger lands. It is known that not alone in Honolulu, but in other sections of the group where the nationality is numerous, their grievances are being seriously considered.

One of the promised revenue measures is making progress in the Legislature, being a revision of the business license schedule. Several old license fees are being increased, while many new ones are being imposed on professions and trades hitherto not subjected to this form of taxation. The Registration Act, to which reference was made in last mail's article, was amended in the House to make everybody coming into the country register immediately upon arrival. Should the bill go through with this feature, tourists will have a new diversion upon landing.

There does not appear to be the improvement in general business which ought to be expected after several months of an improved sugar market, with the largest crop probably ever going forward, and an unusually long period without any serious disturbance or public infliction, such as the insurrection and the cholera of last year. The lack of responsiveness of business to improvement, both positive and negative, in conditions sets people to thinking if the sugar industry is really paying back to the country its due share for all the paternal benevolence it receives from the commonwealth.

Timely Topics

April 1, 1896.

At a mess dinner the conversation turned on animal training.

"Ah!" said Major Binks, "I remember when I was at Bogleywallah I tamed an oyster. He used to follow me all over the house like a dog. The Kit-maghars used to bring him to dessert, like a child, and he would sit on the table at my side with his shell open and crack filberts—most affectionate little creature."

"Have you got him still?" asked a doubting auditor.

"No, sir; he came to an untimely end. A friend of mine came into the dining-room in my absence, saw the oyster with his shell open and swallowed him. I shall never have another such pet!" exclaimed the major with a sigh.

"No doubt your friend swallowed the oyster," said the president, "but I'm afraid we can't swallow the story."

There are all sorts of stories and there are all sorts of stoves. This week we want to tell you a little story about PANSY STOVES, and we anticipate that you will have no difficulty in swallowing it, even if the oyster story was too much for you.

PANSY STOVES are the best in the market and that is why we handle them. We sell a stove a day averaging the year round and most of them are Pansies, and they are "daisies" too for that matter. We don't propose to be undersold by any one in these islands on the stove question. All we ask of those wanting stoves is that they come and look at the Pansy. This stove will sell itself without any talking on our part.

We have the Pansy in three numbers, 6, 7 and 8. It has five holes on top, burns wood or coal and has all the very latest improvements, even to a "Kicker." With this little arrangement the housewife kicks the oven door open without burning or smutting her fingers or spoiling her temper.

Ask your neighbor about the Pansy stove. Only this morning a lady came in and said she had been using one of our Pansy stoves for the last four years, but her family had got so large that she wanted a larger sized stove, although the old one was good yet. We sold her another Pansy.

For a stove suitable for a large household we recommend the Columbia. This is a stove with six holes and much more elaborately ornamented than the Pansy.

We repeat again that we will not be undersold on stoves by any firm in the islands.

Results of Honesty.

"My watch is giving me the utmost satisfaction; I actually believe it does not vary a second during the week."

Pleasant remarks these. Just the kind of balm a watchmaker needs occasionally to keep up his spirits. For you know working all day on a high stool, a glass firmly screwed into one eye, looking at objects so minute it takes a microscope to distinguish them, is not the pleasantest occupation which could fall to the lot of man.

So it's no wonder a fellow gets all out of sorts occasionally, and then it's the time a few remarks like the above does what all the patent medicine in the world could not accomplish, cheers up, makes things look brighter, the next job goes all the smoother.

Speaking of the above watch: It was an old one. The wearer had used it steadily for forty years. It had run enough; had revolved its wheels so long and steadily, that at last it was tired out. The pivots were so worn, the wheels just wobbled and wobbled, then stopped altogether. What was to be done? Throw it away? Get a new one. Yes, but the wearer valued it for its associations, it was as dear to him as his best friend; so nothing would do but build it all over as it were, renew the parts, put some go into it. That we accomplished it to the entire satisfaction of the owner, his remarks above would surely leave no room for doubt. And we can do the same with yours, sometimes they go a little too far, and the cost for reconstruction is too much, but generally no work is too intricate for us. It is that which we brag about, complicated work is our stronghold. Isn't it reasonable now to suppose that we are better able to do your less intricate work? Wouldn't it be safer to give us the custody of your watch altogether, no matter what the trouble, and have a feeling of certainty as to its treatment?

COFFEE ESTATE AND LANDS
For Sale.

I am directed to sell at Public Auction on Wednesday, May 27, '96,

at 12 o'clock noon of said day at my sales room on Queen street, in Honolulu (unless sooner disposed of at private sale) the following described property, namely:

A tract of land of about 2,300 acres in fee simple situate at Kolo and Ololemana 1 in South Kona, Island of Hawaii, about eight miles by a good road from Hoonani, one of the largest villages in Kona. There is an excellent landing on the land itself from where the coffee and other produce could be shipped and a good site for a mill near the landing. Fifty acres of land are in coffee. Roughly estimated there is about seven hundred acres of splendid coffee land lying all on one block on both sides of the Government Road. Eight hundred acres lying above and to the East of the seven hundred acres above mentioned is also excellent land and although at a higher altitude is no doubt also well adapted for coffee culture. The lower land below the coffee belt is suitable for pineapples and sisal. There is a drying house, store and work-rooms, a Gordon's Pulper, laborers' quarters and water tanks at the plantation, and the land is partly walled. There has never been any blight on this land, although coffee was planted a great many years ago. Old residents of Kona like the late D. H. Nahiha, J. W. Kuimoku and others have testified to this fact. There is a sea fishery appurtenant to Ololemana 1.

Terms cash or part of the purchase price can remain on mortgage at eight per cent per annum. Deeds and stamps at the expense of Purchaser.

A map of the property can be seen and further particulars obtained at my sales rooms.
